I had a look with FF's Display CSS enabled:

The red box indicates the entity being displayed..

Standard Joomla template and several others (Yootheme mostly):

Your template CSS is shown below. I do not see anything that would cause the difference but I am no CSS expert.

html > body > div > div > div > div > form > div > div > table > tbody > tr > td

Copy

```
/* Line 256 */
*
{
  box-sizing: border-box;
}

/* Line 177 */
td, th
{
  padding-top: 0px;
  padding-right: 0px;
  padding-bottom: 0px;
  padding-left: 0px;
}
```

?? maybe this

I am guessing it is the box-sizing in your CSS but I do not know how you would override that in ABPro's CSS.

You best bet may be to change the Joomla temple settings to use the standard template for the front desk screen.

In the Protostar menu setup screen, Menu Setting tab, check the menu that calls the front desk screen.
